Summary/Description

Jeanneau 46 Fly Motor Yacht

The Prestige 46 is French, built by Jeanneau and distinctively designed with split-level cabin windows and three staterooms. Impressive accommodations for a boat under 50 feet. In fact, the ability to pack three separate staterooms and two heads into a 46' flybridge yacht and still have room for a comfortable salon and a lower helm is unmatched by any other manufacturer. The galley is set down slightly but remains part of the main cabin so anyone working there won't be separated from the fun. Both the forward owner's cabin and starboard VIP stateroom have double berths. The port guest stateroom has side-by-side berths, and both heads have separate stall showers. The cockpit, shaded by a bridge overhang, provides easy access to the side decks and flybridge. Engine room access is through a hatch in the salon or lazarette. On the fly bridge, a big sun pad lifts to form a second seat around the circular table.

Manufacturer Description

The style is the fulfillment of much thought and the result is well worth the effort. The lines are stupendous. The looks and the design are breathtaking. The performance of the engine combined with the superb hull shape works wonders. The excellent build quality can be seen in the slightest detail. The latest in the Prestige range perfectly combines looks with remarkable functional qualities. Her large flybridge that overlooks the sea evokes freedom, comfort and safety. The refined styling of her coach roof and her lines immediately places her in the powerful motor yacht category. Designed by Garroni and Musio Salý, with engines perfectly suited to her hull shape for genuine performance, she can take eight people, family or friends, on short or long cruises but always in comfort due to the exceptionally high standard of the interior that expresses the very meaning of the name of this 46 footer. Her big flybridge overlooking the sea evokes freedom, comfort and safety. The refined styling of her coachroof and her lines immediately places her in the powerful motor yacht category.
