Sea Ray Sundancers have been one of the most popular lines of yachts in the world for the last several decades - and for good reason. The flagship 2002 380 Sea Ray Sundancer is the embodiment of why. X-Days is a refined 40-foot express cruiser delivering tremendous comfort and space, performance, a soft and stable ride, and ample accommodations to suit any float plan. This well-maintained 2002 Sea Ray 380 Sundancer boasts new Raymarine touchscreen electronics, Garmin radar, recently re-upholstered lounge and helm station seating, and canvas Bimini top and salon refrigerator.

This Sea Ray 380 Sundancer's new helm-to-stern synth-teak decking, and recent bottom paint job, round-out the list of her superlative upgrades. Best of all, the hydraulic rear transom with remote control provides perfect dockage for a personal watercraft or dinghy, and makes for a unique and convenient optional swim platform for loading and unloading scuba tanks and dive guests.

Spending much of their life running in fresh water, the meticulously kept and recently serviced twin MerCruiser engines have seen less than 80, low rpm hours per year - and absolutely purr on turnover. Oil sample and compression tests (8/28/21) revealed X-Days' engines are in excellent working order, and you will not see a tidier bilge on a boat of its age.

Her expansive salon offers maximum headroom and a convivial space to relax and entertain in air-conditioned or heated comfort throughout, a 29-inch flatscreen with Apple TV, wi-fi repeater when docking, Fusion-driven Bluetooth surround stereo system, central vacuum cleaning system, two (2) USB charging ports, and a dizzying array of storage options make life easy onboard.

The forward stateroom with pedestal double bed, rear stateroom with L-seating and salon settee can accommodate sleeping for six (6) people. The cherrywood-appointed galley comes replete with full sink, microwave, stove, and a new refrigerator/freezer - capable of tackling that quick, after-swim snack, or full banquet sunset meal.

The Sea Ray 380 Sundancer, X-Days, is the perfect choice for day cruising in the bay, a plush overnight to the Bahamas, or a turnkey, ready-to-charter workhorse, personifying the heritage you have come to expect from the legendary fleet of Sundancer yachts.
