Overview

Manufacturer Provided Description

The Boston Whaler 130 Sport is pure, uncomplicated fun. Like the first 13-foot Whaler hull introduced in 1958, the Sport features "unsinkable" Unibond construction and a twin sponson hull for lateral stability and superior performance with minimal horsepower. It has two bench seats, a fiberglass console, navigation lights, and stainless steel side rails. A 6.6-gallon fuel tank and battery box store out of the way, under the helm seat. And the anchor locker forward has a finished interior with a drain so it doesn't trap dirt. A galvanized EZ Loader trailer is part of the package, as is a 40 ELPTO Mercury Classic, or a choice of an optional, quieter, more fuel-efficient 25 ELSP 4-stroke or 40 ELPT 4-stroke engine.
