Walkthrough

Looking from the stern, the main deck's visual scope reaches all the way forward, through the salon, dining room, galley, and pilot house to seascape ahead. A formal dining area forward of the salon holds an oval table for six while the home-size galley to port features such luxuries as granite countertops and floors. A lower helm was optional.

There are three staterooms and heads below, including an opulent amidships master with king-size berth and walk-in closet. Aft, two-person crew quarters are accessed from the transom. Additional features include a hydraulic swim platform, bow/stern thrusters, and—unlike most European motor yachts—a spacious engine room with standing headroom.
