Overview

"Everybody Knows" is a 2014 VanDutch 40, designed by Frank Mulder Design. Based in Miami, this modern dayboat is perfect for cruising and entertainment combining straight-edge design and performance.

"Everybody Knows" is powered by a pair of Yanmar 480hp engines through conventional shafts with high-efficiency propellers, this ensures a unique and near horizontal running angle. Accommodations include a cabin for two guests below deck with a queen-size V-berth allowing long stays at your favorite destination.

The boat is equipped with joystick controllers for bow and stern thrusters to simplify maneuvering at slow speeds and while docking. The engine compartment is accessible via hydraulic hatch.

With its enhanced cockpit layout, the movements on deck are easy and thanks to its axe-sharp bow, angular lines, and low-raked windshield, this VanDutch 40 stands out from the crowd. It was built to exacting standards with exceptional performance and handling attributes.
