Summary/Description

Remarkably Clean and Good Running Boat

If you're done with toy boats and want a capable offshore fishing machine, in a compact package, then this Whaler Outrage 21 is well worth a look. With a Category B, Offshore rating, for up to 10 people plus gear, it's easy to see just how safe and capable this boat is.

This boat is lift kept and has had light use. Seasonal resident only uses it about 25-30 hours per year. Cushions are Newer, Sunbrella T-Top is Newer but has about a 10" tear that should be re-sewn. Other than the tear this boat is in well above average condition for its age. Give us a call or you may miss the boat!

BROKERS WALK THRU

It is very hard to beat the great and dry ride of a Boston Whaler. Pure Quality Craftsmanship and Design, Unsinkable, the List goes on and on. There is a reason these boats hold their value and that is simply quality and performance.

This model is obviously not a new model, but she is in really nice shape for her age. She has very low hours and has been well cared for. The boat runs fine and is water ready, but she is also priced with a re-power in mind if a new owner chooses to do so.

If you have never owned a top-quality boat, or maybe upsize, or downsize. Here is your chance. She is worth it.

POWER BOAT GUIDE REVIEW

Overview: Possibly the most expensive 21-foot center console of her era. Large console takes up a lot of deck space, but the head compartment is a nice touch. Excellent range. Replaced in 2002 with an all-new 21 Outrage model.

Features: Integrated swim platform with ladder; marine head with pump out; aft jump seats; U-shaped bow seat with storage under; two in deck fish boxes (insulated); hydraulic steering; tilt wheel; freshwater shower; beverage holders; anchor locker; trim tabs; under-gunnel rod storage; rod holders (4). Clever fold-up seat forward of the console doubles as a cutting board.

Performance: Close to 50 mph top with 225hp Mercury outboard

Manufacturer Provided Description

The Boston Whaler 21 Outrage is set to go the distance. It carries 125 gallons of fuel, and its big-water, beamly Accutrack hull cleanly slices through rough water. The 21 Outrage's solid Unibond construction provides the durability and unsinkability that is truly appreciated offshore. The 21 Outrage is ready to fish. There are a pair of insulated in-deck fish boxes to keep the catch fresh. There are rod holders on the console and racks under the gunnels. An optional T-top is available with electronics box and topgun outriggers. Or choose the bait prep station, with leaning post, livewell and aft coaming bolsters. The lockable electronics box at the helm is built to hold electronics like a GPS and a fishfinder. Inshore, the 21 Outrage provides ample room and comfort for cruising and watersports. Sliding pedestal seats with footrests, cushioned rear quarter seats, and an optional folding seat forward of the console assure seating for the family, and then some. The 21 Outrage also has room inside the console for an optional head.
