Cassandra's Broker's Notes:

My client is the second owner, for the last six years. Before her current owner, Ship Faced was always lift-kept, adding to her longevity. The current owner is selling only due to other obligations taking time away from life on the water. They loved to take her out to the sandbars and back, enjoying time with friends and family. You could easily enjoy Ship Faced as a weekender (or longer) docking or dropping the hook in beautiful islands/ports. This owner is VERY meticulous so

Ship Faced is turnkey and ready to make new memories with her next Captain and friends all year long!

Time and tide wait for no one so let's find your piece of paradise today!
