Walkthrough

Entrance to the helm deck is to starboard with a small storage space to port with pass through access for gaff storage. Two large in-deck fishboxes with macerator pumps, under-gunwale stowage racks, fresh and saltwater washdowns, a molded-in transom bait tank, and a transom door and gate make this spacious cockpit a fully fishable and functional work area.

The center-mounted helm and starboard-side companionway offer a good use of space and keep the helmsman in the thick of the action, whether fishing or socializing. Behind the helm chair to port is the expansive L-shaped lounge with rod storage underneath. To starboard is a longitudinal tackle locker and counter space. A third helm chair is forward on the starboard side.

Below decks, the 6-foot 3-inch headroom in the cabin adds to a substantial cabin feel with plenty of space. To port is the enclosed head with large stall shower. An island berth in the bow with numerous lockers feature Cabo's signature teak grating. The L-shaped salon settee to starboard hides expansive storage area beneath. The seat back of the straight section lifts on hinges to form a Pullman berth. A vertical locker is immediately to starboard in the salon for rod storage outfitted with custom stainless fittings. In addition to the abundant cabinetry space and storage locations, the forward finished bilge serves as additional storage and pump location.
