Designed by Ted Irwin and built at Irwin Yachts in Florida. The Irwin 54 is a big, comfortable, stable, and safe sailing yacht. Designed as a family cruising yacht or for the Caribbean charter business the Irwin 54 is easy to sail due to the ketch rig and split sail plan.

The Irwin 54 has a reputation of being a "go anywhere vessel" and has both fuel and water tankage capacity for being self-sufficient for extended periods of time.

Litha offers a sugar scoop transom for easy boarding from dinghies, kayaks, SUPs or just hanging with your feet in the water. Her spacious center cockpit will seat numerous family or friends comfortably and the salon table will easily seat 8.

Accommodations: V Berth in the bow (double) 1 single crew bunk, and a guest cabin with a Queen-size bed and en suite head. The Master Stateroom is the full width of the yacht with a queen-size bed and en suite head.

The Galley is large enough for two cooks and is set apart from the salon for meal creation. The freezer and refrigerator are large capacity. She also has a washer and dryer. In total, she has four cabins and three heads.

The main salon includes a large folding teak table and comfortable settee. The salon windows afford plenty of light and opportunity for panoramic views.

The Navigation Station is tucked in the port corner of the main salon and offers a full-size chart table and Navigators desk.

Litha is in a US-built Yacht and she qualifies for charter service in the United States. She would also be a fantastic live aboard.

Few yachts in this size range offer more in accommodations and deck space. If you are looking for a BIG sailboat, Litha offers more than just about anything you can imagine. Recent survey available.
