Summary/Description

Gemini is a great starter Sail Catamaran!

A great entry level catamaran. She is older and can use some freshening up, but she is functional and very inexpensive to own. She is amazing solid underfoot along the top sides and has hardly any crazing compared to all of the other Gemini's I seem to board.

This boat features Brand New Standing Rigging (2 years old) and 2 year old electronics (minus the depth finder). Engine is turn key (there is no hour meter) she fires without hesitation from a cold start and it is an outboard!! No nasty sail drives to service or replace! Enjoy the boat immediately the cosmetics you can work on underway.

BROKERS WALK THRU

A very affordable Sailing Catamaran that will make for a great first time (entry level) Sail Catamaran for someone out there. The boat is over 30 years old it is not perfect. It is not even pretty at this point, but she is highly functional and can be put into use right away.

The seller just bought the boat just over 2 years ago in St Augustine. He did a fairly good job at upgrading some important things, but he feels a lot older now and can't keep up with it like he has intended.

This will be a great boat for someone who does not have a 6 figure plus budget most sail catamarans are in but wants a descent catamaran that fits their budget but could use a little this and that.

Most Geminis I get on that are over 15 years old have several soft spots if not mushy spots and a lot of crazing. This boat remarkable does not have any of that. I walk all over the decks and they felt for the most part fairly solid under foot. On the interior forward cabin I noticed a soft spot that should be address in the near future, it is cosmetic. In a nutshell there is really nothing the boat needs right now. It is mainly wants not needs and some spiffing up on the exterior will g a long way.
