Description

As you step onto the spacious swim platform, you'll immediately notice the impressive hydraulic swim platform, perfect for water activities and relaxation. The transom storage area is thoughtfully designed to accommodate hanging ropes, fenders, and more. Additionally, you'll find convenient access to the Glendenning cable master, dock water connection, and the remote for the Hydraulic Swim grid.

Moving through the port side transom gate into the cockpit, you'll discover a host of features. A hot/cold transom shower on the port side and U-shaped seating to starboard create a comfortable and inviting space. The adjacent small bar/prep area boasts a sink, refrigerator, and ample cabinet storage for your convenience.

Ascending into the helm area, you'll find a well-appointed lounge seating to port, complemented by a double-wide helm pod to starboard. This configuration allows for versatile and comfortable seating arrangements, whether you're cruising or entertaining. The hardtop enhances the experience with dual electric opening skylights over the helm, providing an abundance of natural light.

At the helm, dual Raymarine Multi-Function Displays (MFDs) are strategically mounted behind the steering wheel, accompanied by an updated Mercruiser engine display screen above. The Zeus pod joystick, easily accessible from the starboard helm seat, simplifies vessel maneuvering.

Transitioning into the cabin area through the sliding helm door, you'll be greeted by floating teak steps leading to the main salon. The interior boasts a rich dark cherry finish throughout, adding an elegant touch to the surroundings. To starboard, the salon features a dinette area, while the galley is thoughtfully arranged on the port side.

The master bedroom, located forward, showcases a queen-size island berth at the boat's centerline and an en-suite head to port for added privacy. Aft from the entry stairs, the guest stateroom offers two twin beds midship and an en-suite head to port, ensuring a comfortable stay for all onboard.

Completing the vessel's impressive features, the bow area provides an ideal space for entertainment with a large deck sun pad, perfect for soaking up the sun and enjoying the scenic views. This yacht offers a perfect blend of functionality, style, and comfort for an unparalleled boating experience.
