RYCK motorboats are true all-arounders. Based on a super-hydrodynamic hull design, a RYCK can be completely tailored to your needs. Whether you take it swimming or diving, visiting a waterside city, or for a trip out to sea, you are always well-equipped with a RYCK! Its modern, sporty look fits every occasion and guarantees you admiring looks. But the RYCK is not just in a class of its own aesthetically. It also sets standards in handling and safety, making it ideal for beginners large and small. A smooth journey from purchase through construction to delivery is guaranteed by a big name. The brand belongs to Hanse Yachts AG, one of the largest production yacht builders in the world.

First impressions matter. Not just on a first date, but also when it comes to buying a boat. The design has to be right. That's why we engaged the renowned yacht designer Bill Dixon to develop the open RYCK 280, alongside Hanse's own in-house development team. The result is styling that will touch everyone. The reverse bow alone signals dynamism and sportiness, supported by the windscreen and the black T-top, which shades the stylish helm station. From here, the RYCK 280 is operated via touchscreen controls. Aft, in the large step less cockpit, the open boat offers enough space for anglers, divers and water skiers to store and deploy their gear or — in a different layout — for families and friends to relax and sunbathe. Below deck is a luxurious, light-flooded cabin with a veritable wet room, wardrobe and a double bed. Here, the raised foredeck creates a sense of space and volume. It makes the RYCK 280 a fully-fledged weekender, ready for wonderful two- or three-day trips. By the way, you can visit any cruising ground you like, because the RYCK 280 is trailerable and can follow you wherever you want to enjoy your next break.
